For Line Fill and Testing

Pincher Creek Gas Now Filling New Trunk Line

British American Oil's $25,000,000 gas processing and sulphur plant at Pincher Creek, Alta., has begun delivering processed gas to the Alberta Gas Trunk Line for the purpose of line fill and testing.

This is the first of a series of steps which will link the Pincher Creek field with Eastern markets. The field will be the largest single supplier to the Trans-Canada Pipe Line when the latter goes into operation. Gas from the Pincher Creek field will be delivered to Trans-Canada at the Alberta-Saskatchewan border through the Alberta Gas Trunk Line, and it is from this feeder line that gas will be taken to supply the projected Barons-Vulcan natural gas line.

First delivery of processed gas to the Alberta Gas Trunk Line was made upon completion of British American's Stage II plant at Pincher Creek, which has been under construction since early in 1957.

Regular delivery of gas will begin Nov. 1, under a 25-year contract between British American and Trans-Canada. It is estimated that the pipe line will take an average of 70 million cubic feet a day during the first year.

In addition to gas for Trans-Canada, the Stage II plant at Pincher Creek will produce large quantities of sulphur, condensate, propane and butane — all of which are calculated to encourage the development of secondary industries in Western Canada.

W.I. Discusses Cd'n Citizenship

Mrs. Cecil Dennison detailed the steps by which people can gain Canadian citizenship when the members of Good Deeds WI met at the home of Mrs. Sam White of Nanton on Thursday. Harvest cut into the attendance at the meeting but there was a lively discussion on the subject between the ten members present. The group also planned a bake sale at Vulcan for November.

The roll call asked for responses telling what the members liked most about Canada and these ranged all the way from "freedom" to "weather."

The Canadian Association of Consumers report was read and the future of the CBC, the increased wool tariffs and gifts for bride's shower were discussed in terms of the interest WI members take in sound buying.

There was a discussion about the possibilities of nominations for scholarships and a nomination to the leadership school at Banff School of Fine Arts in the fall. A prize was arranged for the pot-holder exchange for the November meeting and Mrs. C. Brown was asked to see about the prize for flour sack aprons. The president, Mrs. Bob Hutton and Mrs. S. J. Dowhan offered to make posters for the bake sale and the secretary, Mrs. Wm. Wyley, Jr., and the president were asked to arrange for the hall and advertising. Tea raffle was won by Miss Viva Denison.

Recreation Centre, Nursery To Open

Lew's Bowling and Lunch Counter will open on Monday, Oct. 13, and in conjunction it will operate as a centre of recreation especially for young people. There is to be a room available to clubs and this will be especially adapted to hobby craft, physical culture, music and dance instruction.

In the afternoons from 1:30 to 3:00 on Monday, Thursday and Friday, Mrs. R. Davis will conduct ballet, music and painting classes for kindergarten-aged children. Week days from 4:30 on and on weekends the space will be a supervised spot for teenagers and juniors. Various cultural and hobby craft courses will be available to the young people at that time, besides dancing there will also be transportation available at very necessary times.

The centre will work directly in conjunction with the Department of Economic Affairs with regard to culture and recreation and it is hoped that persons and organizations will avail themselves of the centre services for the administration and supervising of the many children's activities.

11 lb. Whopper

At the right is a photo of an odd potato sent in by William A. Brown of Lomond. It weighs three pounds, two ounces and compares with a previous sample shown in the Advocate recently belonging to Eric Watson of this district. With all due respect to the growers of these fine specimens, however, above appears, we're sure, the grand-daddy of all potatoes. Roy Adam of the Reid Hill district trucked this whopper to the office and it weighs in at over 11 pounds. Experts label it an Early Ohio, Red Pontiac or maybe Irish Collier. At any rate it stands eleven inches high and is a good winter's eating for the owner.

Federal Grant For L.B. Hospital

Dr. L. E. Kindt, M.P. for Macleod, has informed the Advocate that approval has recently been given to a federal health grant of $15,000 toward the cost of construction of the new Little Bow Municipal Hospital at Carmangay.

The grant will be paid in four installments as the construction of the building reaches various stages. Plans call for completion of the new building in February, 1959.

THE WEATHER

Fine weather has prevailed this past week, allowing harvest to be pretty well cleaned up with the exception of the odd field of flax. Cooler weather, with some possibility of snow flurries was forecast for later this week.

SERVICE BOARD NOTES

By H. S. Burns

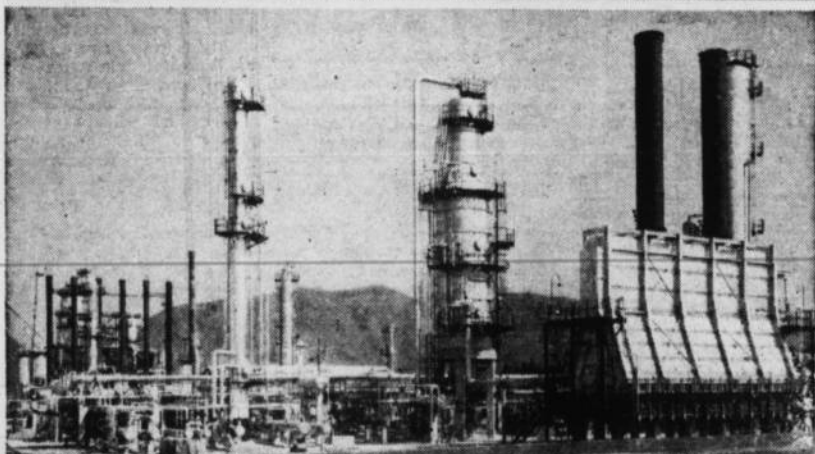

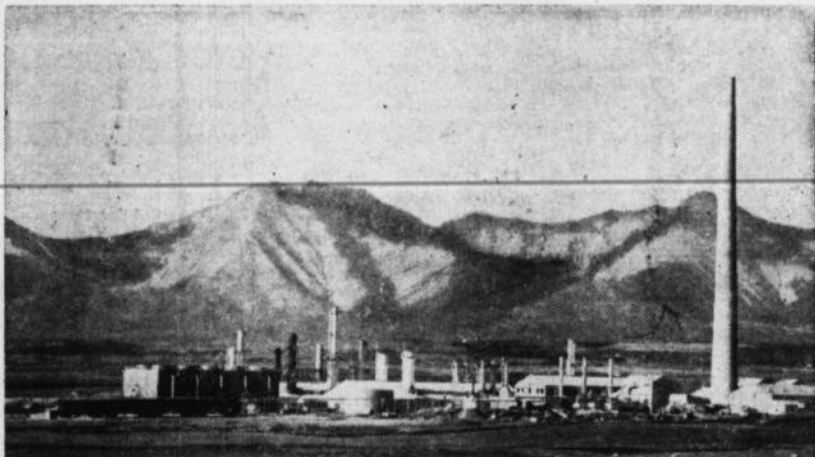

Last season there were 287,000 heifer calves vaccinated in the province for Brucellosis; this number taken from 35 municipalities and counties. By special arrangements this year, improvement districts and special areas will come under the scheme, at the present rate of expansion the entire province will soon become a Brucellosis restricted area. One of the benefits of this program is the continued exports of cattle to the United States with a brightening of the whole outlook for the cattleman. Regulations now designate that calves for export to the United States must be vaccinated by January 15.

In this county we are now entering our fifth year of compulsory vaccination. It is anticipated that, due to an earlier harvest than usual, that we may be able to make an earlier start than would ordinarily be the case. We would be glad to hear of any herds near-by or any community that could be done immediately, as it would greatly assist the veterinarian to be relieved of some of the rush to have the vaccination done later.

Check the Fire Hazards

With the inevitable approach of winter and much colder weather, this would be an opportune time to give some extra thought to fire protection. Furnaces will soon be going full blast and fire hazards can be reduced by having them in good operating condition. Among the most common causes of fire in rural Canadian homes are those originating from cooking and heating equipment.

Fire insurance companies list the following as frequent causes of farm fires: chimneys of sub-standard construction; sparks from dirty chimneys; faulty smoke pipes and stove installations; seasonal grass and bush fires; spontaneous ignition of hay; worn-out shingle roofs; lighted lanterns; mis-use of electrical equipment; threshing or other operations with gasoline powered engines; matches, or smoking in barns or other farm buildings, and finally lightning.

Most fires originating from this list could be prevented by checking on faulty equipment, for the time to prevent a fire is before it starts. Chimney and smoke pipes can be inspected and cleaned and repaired where necessary, gasoline can be stored away from main buildings, oily rags never left lying about. Even lightning can be guarded against by arresters.

An excellent fire prevention on a farm is a roof ladder. Keep a few buckets of water ready for use and a number of water barrels at suitable points is an added precaution. But they are worse than useless if the water is frozen solid should an emergency arise, so choose a relatively warm place.

A reliable fire extinguisher is also a good investment, particularly if suitable to handle grease and gasoline fires. It will often be enough to scotch an incipient fire and prevent disaster.

Football On Campus

After an absence of ten years, university football will return to the campus of the University of Alberta this fall. Prospective university students, including all ex-high school players who are not playing with a junior team in the province and all over-age junior league players, are urged to turn out for the squad.

Coach Steve Mendryk has scheduled the first football practice for Monday, Sept. 22nd, at 3:30 p.m. and practices will be held each week day until Oct. 10. Inter-squad games will be played each Friday afternoon until the end of the training period.

While prospective players will find previous playing experience desirable, it is not essential. A large coaching staff has been arranged to provide additional instruction to inexperienced players.

FARMERS' PROBLEM

I spent the weekend with farm relatives. They have very nice homes, most of the modern conveniences, but they find ready cash hard to come by. Other farmers from the district dropped in and there was a good deal of talk about farm problems.

Earlier in the day, I had walked and driven about the countryside a good deal, in search of ducks. I had been impressed by many of the older buildings, built at least a generation ago. So when the problems had all been talked over at length, I asked that had been bothering me.

"How," I asked, "did the men and women who lived on these farms — in some cases your fathers or uncles — manage to build such impressive buildings? This house we are in, for example, with so many fine rooms for the family and also that big annex for staff. Was farming so much better then, before they had such good roads, so many fine implements, fertilizers, weed sprayers and the rest? Were they supermen, or is there something wrong with you?"

We were all friends and relatives, so I had hoped to start a lively but friendly little battle. Instead, my cousin said, "Say, I've often wondered about that myself. My forebears must have been darn good farmers. If I had to build this house now, I just couldn't raise that kind of money. And if the wife had to go back to canning, curing, cooking and the rest of it on the old-fashioned range, without running water beside her, I think she'd head for the city!"

His wife laughed. "It's a good question," she admitted. "But I think I know how they did it. To start with, they didn't need a great lot of cash money. Everything they bought came cheaper, a lot cheaper. John put a metal roof on that old granary — and that roof alone probably cost several times more than the whole granary cost when his father started farming here. And you should see the bills we pay for gas and oil, for equipment for clothing, for everything we buy! And believe me, one way or another we pay for our better roads and better schools and all the rest. It's impossible these days to decide to be thrifty — the government forces you to progress, even if it breaks you!"

Well, that started it! And much to my surprise, the farmers were more critical of themselves than I thought any group could be.

"We've concentrated on getting higher prices for our products — the toughest job. We'd have been better to resist the high prices of things we must buy. We ought to fight to keep taxes down, inflation in check, wages reasonable, so that we could sell our products and avoid surpluses. We've got to keep things in balance where an hour's labor on the farm can be traded for an hour's labor in the city. Otherwise, we're sunk. You just can't force high-priced products on foreign buyers."

With The District Agriculturist

Three Varieties of Crested Wheatgrass

Until recently Fairway was the only variety of crested wheatgrass available in western Canada. It was released by the Dominion Forage Laboratory, Saskatoon, and has become widely adapted in western Canada. In 1953 two new varieties of crested wheatgrass were released, one from the Northern Great Plains Field Station, Mandan, North Dakota, under the name of Nordan and the other from the Dominion Forage Crops Laboratory, Saskatoon, under the name of Summit.

Fairway crested wheatgrass was selected originally for its fineness of stem and its leafiness. It was because of this fineness and its excellent drought resistance that it made very satisfactory turf grass for dry land farm lawns, playgrounds and golf courses. It became very popular as a pasture grass particularly for sheep but because of low yield, efforts were made to develop higher yielding varieties.

Summit is a selection of a coarser, taller growing type of crested wheatgrass. In yield tests throughout western Canada it out-yields Fairway in hay and pasture production but is slightly lower in seed production. The extra height of Summit over Fairway makes it more desirable as a dry land hay grass.

Nordan was developed at the Northern Great Plains Field Station, Mandan, North Dakota, under a combined effort of the United States Department of Agriculture and the North Dakota Experiment Station. This variety is very similar to Summit in appearance and general type. In yield tests across western Canada it is equal to Summit in hay and pasture production and slightly higher in seed production. Nordan is the only licensed variety of crested wheatgrass in the United States and it has become widely distributed throughout the Northern Great Plains and the Inter-Mountain states. In 1958, it was licensed for sale in Canada.

There is little to choose between Nordan and Summit for forage production. Seed growers, however, welcome the opportunity of growing Nordan as the demand for seed of this variety in the western United States is high and they are assured of a fairly stable market.

This was taken from the Lethbridge Experimental Farm Weekly Letter, R. W. Peake, Head, Forage Crops Section.

INFESTATION IN STORED GRAIN

Surveys carried out by stored product entomologists of The Canada Department of Agriculture show that many granaries in the prairie provinces are infested with mites and insects. These have been found in floor and wall cracks, in loose grain on the floor and plates, and in crushed grain on wall studs. Every precaution, therefore, should be taken to see that granaries are thoroughly cleaned, prepared and, where necessary, sprayed with insecticides to prevent possible damage.

YOU CAN AFFORD TO FORGET — IMPERIAL CAN'T

... because four generations of Canadians have come to depend on Imperial products on the road, on the farm, in the home

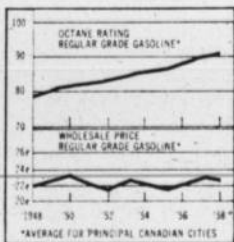

Imperial started supplying Canadians with oil products in the very early days of the industry in Canada... in fact, 1880 was the year it made its start in this business.

In most areas of Canada, it was an Imperial refinery which first began making oil products locally.

Imperial pioneered, too, in supplying Canadians with products when and where they were needed. (As far back as 1907, Imperial opened the first service station in Canada... and perhaps in the world.)

Today, as over the past 78 years, Imperial recognizes its responsibility to bring Canadians the most modern of oil products at the lowest possible price.
